Pair of German Schneeballen ewers, and a similar vase and cover, in the Meissen style, all with applied birds amidst branches, ewers 25cm, vase and cover 22cm, old damages and repairs.

Qty: 3

Vase and cover - old and rather crude restoration to the bird finial and also foot of the vase., The underside of the cover has significant and obvious firing lines extending from the rim. Other old and now discolored restoration to the birds on the exterior and foliage. There is also a hairline extending from the rim of the body.

Blue floral ewer - the neck has been reglued, the glue now discoloured with age. Various chips to the handle and neck. The birds have lost parts of their wings, tail, and beaks. The floral decoration is largely in good order.

Pink floral ewer - several chips to the neck and spout. The birds with damages and losses, but the floral decoration again is fairly good with just spot restorations and losses.
